Friday for Rotary is Tuesdays for Trash

Tuesday, October 13, 2020

The 2020 Rotary International Convention agreed to add Environmental Action to the Rotary Areas of Focus.

Joining us this week to share what is possible on the individual level is Wanda McNealy, who discovered one way to help the environment while out for a walk.

Wanda McNealy is an activist from Portland with a BS in Communications. Utilizing a passion for community involvement, she has been volunteering most of her life through many outlets such as food banks, homeless shelters, wildlife refuges, and summer camps for children with disabilities. After marching in protest against the Dakota Access Pipeline in 2016, she decided to commit her life to encouraging positive environmental change.

Jane and Katherine promised to have something fun at the collection point at Jane's home Sunday, Oct. 18, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Do we have any volunteers to host in November? Your choice of place and time.

Jane's house is located at 9600 NW Lakeshore Ave. From Lakeshore Avenue, turn west on NW 95th Place and look for the Buddhist prayer flags.

More environmental

Tuesday, October 13, 2020

While we're on the topic of environmental action, here is a local educational program that looks interesting and fun. From The Oregonian:

Tune in to hear a professional storyteller share eco-inspired tales, this Saturday, Oct. 17. Storyteller Will Hornyak brings facts to life about sustainability, composting and healthy watersheds with myths, fables, tall tales and participation stories for all ages. Join us for a lively, entertaining and engaging program filled with practical ideas for healthier and greener neighborhoods and communities.

Happy birthday to...whom?

Wednesday, October 14, 2020

Long-time members will know that it's our tradition to make a donation to the Vancouver Sunrise Rotary Foundation to recognize our own birthdays and anniversaries.

Foundation Treasurer Francois says that during this Covid isolation, there have been some folks who have forgotten their own birthdays, apparently, because the Foundation is being slighted.

Look at it this way. It's a small price to pay to avoid hearing a fellow member sing happy birthday to you.

Checks can be posted to this address:

Vancouver Sunrise Rotary Foundation
PO Box 87071
Vancouver, WA 98687

Also, our club budget also depends on our pride dollar contributions. Please be sure to get yours to Michelle. Make your checks out to Vancouver Sunrise Rotary and send to P.O. Box 820956, Vancouver, WA 98682.

LEWIS RIVER AUCTION

Tuesday, October 13, 2020

If you haven't yet, pop on over to the Lewis River Rotary's auction page and see what you can find. It starts tomorrow and runs through Saturday.

Grant management recertification

Tuesday, October 13, 2020

Members can now be recertified for grants in the Learning Center. The Grant Management Seminar Recertification course is available for people who have previously completed the full nine-course Grant Management Seminar and now just need to maintain their qualification to apply for grants.

We are likely a little thin on members who have been through this certification, which is required for us to get Rotary grants. If you haven't done it and are interested, let one of the board members know.
