President Kim Mc.D. opened the meeting at 12:05 pm.

Joan G. lead us in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mae Matos was our only visiting Rotarian. Barbara Moulton and Ron Herrerias were guests.

Jeff S. made a confession with his thought of the day — “I made too many New Years resolutions. It’s taken me almost twelve days to break them all.”

Larry L. belted out “America, The Beautiful!”

Program

Our speaker was John G. Mathers, a Rotarian, Climate Advocate and Business Advisor. He spoke on the topic of “The Climate Crises and Existing Solutions”

As a result of his life-long interest in the environment, John’s special focus on the climate crisis has led to an active role in promoting education and action within the Rotary community of clubs. He has worked with a number of fellow Rotarians to build a network – the Rotary Climate Action Teams (RCAT) Network – of Rotary clubs focused on taking action and sharing results. John has spoken at a number of U.S. and international clubs on climate issues, the practical reality, and solutions all of us can implement. But most of all, John speaks to the timely need for all of us to step up to address this existential crisis. For more about Rotary and the environment CLICK HERE.

Join us as we hear from Jeanne Kearns, North Bay Executive Director, The American Heart Association

Jeanne Kearns is the Executive Director of the American Heart Association's North Bay Division. The North Bay Division serves Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties. She is a resident of Santa Rosa with a 15 year track record in development and brings a clear vision of the extraordinary impact the American Heart Association can have on the health of communities across the North Bay.

Jeanne's personal passion for women's health brought her to Go Red For Women where she first became involved with the AHA. She is responsible for leading the organization's state-wide effort to promote healthy lives and reduce cardiovascular diseases and strokes.
