Jane ♦n started her professional career by developing large parcels of agricultural land into commercial developments. She completed her first project, a 600-unit mini storage facility, at the age of 22.

While learning real estate, she developed her sense of civic service and volunteering. Over the years, Jane has served on the boards of the San Bernardino County Museum Foundation, the Redlands Community Hospital Foundation, the Bank of Redlands, a mutual water company, and actively involved with over 20 political campaigns.

Due to the experiences gained early in her career, she soon came to recognize a need for improvement in the bail bond industry. Jane created Abba Bail Bonds, a bail bond business that at its peak operated out of fourteen locations throughout California. Their specialty is to take a personal approach to balancing their clients♦ needs for liberty with the interests of justice. As a result, her company has provided bail to thousands of defendants, thus granting them their freedom and reuniting them with their families.

As part of her efforts to extend bail to those who may not otherwise be entitled to it, Jane has continuously advocated for bail reform on both community and political levels. She advocates for the goal of ending discriminatory bail practices in our county jails, whether the discrimination is a result of race, income, gender, or national origin.

She is an avid supporter of law enforcement; her favorite charity event is Shop with a Cop. In addition, she has been an active organic farmer since 1984, and she supports several environmental issues.

LET'S SHARE ROTARY

♦ We ask ourselves, 'Who am I to be brilliant, gorgeous, talented, fabulous?' Actually, who are you not to be? ♦ Marianne Williamson

If you were the protagonist in your own story, who would you be? How would you write your story? Would you be the diminutive person playing a minor role in the world, sitting comfortably in front of your laptop, watching others out in the world? Maybe you♦d imagine yourself posting well thought out opinions on social media or decrying the actions of others, screaming now and then out your front door, ♦Get off my lawn!♦

Or would you be a person of action, using your skills and talent to provide service and comfort to your neighbors? What would your story be?

Since we are writing our own stories, I think we♦d imagine ourselves as the heroes of the story, making a difference in the world. And why not go big? Why not make a difference by serving with your friends in Rotary? As a Rotarian, your protagonist has the opportunity to make connections and serve their community, both local and international, with big results. You♦d help your city♦s youth by giving them scholarships, training, or needed food and supplies. Maybe you♦d break bread with Navajo families, or celebrate with a person who just received water in Mozambique. Maybe you♦d administer a polio drop to an infant Mexican boy or girl.

And, in our stories, make sure we fulfill our duty and invite our neighbors and friends to become Rotarians. Why wouldn♦t we, as we meet people in the community, invite them to be Rotarians? Sharing the opportunities of Rotary with say, your eye doctor, your contractor, your family♦s pharmacist, or your skin doctor to help others draft their stories and helps Rotary grow.

To thrive, Rotary needs to expand. In the last several months, we have lost some RCLB friends. Some have moved away, some have had financial setbacks and priorities have changed for others. We can choose to view this as an opportunity to bring in new members. It's up to each of us to work toward creating a dynamic Club where we support each other as well as helping our community and our world become a better place.

It's so much better than yelling, "Get off my lawn!"

Available to Help Students with Mock Interviews?

Each year, many Rotarians have contributed their expertise to Camp Enterprise. With current public health guidelines, it appears that our Camp Enterprise will not be able to be held this year. However, we can continue the preparation of our high school students for their future by providing opportunities for them to participate in mock interviews. Virtual mock interviews are being scheduled for high school students attending Browning and PAAL and business professionals are needed to help with one or more sessions. Would you be available to participate in one or more of the following mock interview events?

- Friday, January 15th: 9:15 am ♦ 11:15 am for Browning High School
- Friday, January 15th: 12:45 pm ♦ 2:45 pm for Browning High School
- Thursday, February 25th: 9:30 am ♦ 11:15 am for Poly PAAL High School
- Thursday, February 25th: 11:30 am ♦ 1:15 pm for Poly PAAL High School

To register, please click on the link: Mock Interviewer Registration Form located on the lower left part of the flyer. LBUSD ♦s Long Beach CaLL will contact you prior to each of the sessions you indicated availability and provide instructions and suggested interview questions.

Thank you for volunteering your time to enhance opportunities for our future community leaders.
