Norb Brings "The Long Return" to the Breakfast Club

By Carolyn J Perry on Sunday, September 27, 2020

Last Wednesday, Norb Plassmeyer brought a fascinating story to the Breakfast Club -- the reunion of two friends who served in Vietnam together and who were reunited through a watch (a Rolex Tudor). Barry Jones was a friend of Norb's brother Bernie. Barry was shot while serving in the Marines, and before returning home, gave his watch to a friend, Lorrie McLaughlin. What was amazing was that Barry was shot in the wrist, and the watch was hit by the bullet, as well--but not destroyed. Fifty years later to the day, Lorrie returned the watch to Barry and the two reunited. Here's their story:

The Long Return, Part I: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oltoh4YOupI>

What is just as amazing is the story of the repair of the watch, which was taken on by a watchmaker in Geneva, Switzerland: The Long Return, Part II: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NZXSl-zDdWM>

If you weren't able to be with us last week, you'll want to watch both parts. The story is not only fascinating; it is also a heartwarming story of two friends who served our country together. Thanks, Norb!

The Bingo announcer at the start of each game will give explanations of this rounds game. So, for example: Round 1 could be all numbers in a straight vertical line, all numbers under the letter B. Bingo announcer will call which bingo ball has been drawn, players will check their cards and highlight/mark if it is on the card. When someone has Bingo they will shout out Bingo either out loud or use the chat button. A prize will be awarded after each game. Members can steal a winning Bingo card by claiming it for $25. More than one member can steal the same card. All money from stolen cards will go to Polio Foundation in the club's name.

How does the Point Swap portion work?

Your Paul Harris Contribution Point amounts will be sent to you by Steve Dinolfo and Jim Keller our Foundation Chairs via email.

You can swap points to reach your next level of Paul Harris before or during the party. Points must be exchanged in a minimum of 100 points.

We suggest that points be swapped for $1 per point. So, if you currently have 600 Paul Harris Recognition points you will need a combination of points and money to equal 1000 for the next Paul Harris. If a member has 200 points to give or swap for $200, you will have the necessary money to reach the next Paul Harris.

Any necessary paper work can be done after the party either in person or via email.
