CLUB NEWS

Monday's Program

Emily Steele spoke to us Monday about her career which started out in fashion merchandising and morphed into her own digital marketing business. Six months ago she founded Steele Digital Marketing Solutions and business is great. She provides services for businesses and non-profits.

These services include building and redesigning websites, branding awareness and e-mail marketing. Emily stated social media is huge and she can help create posts, contents and manage reviews. She bills clients based on the bundles of services she provides. To learn more visit steeledigitalmarketingsolutions.com.

In Person Meetings

Yay! Starting Monday February 1, we will begin meeting in person again at the Emergency Operations Center in the Court Services Building at 315 S Ireland Street. Parking and entrance is in the rear of the building. Lunch will be available for those who want to eat. As before, $8.00 per meal will be added to members' quarterly bills. Please remember to wear your mask when not eating and practice social distancing. The meeting room is sufficiently large for this. We are looking forward to seeing everyone in person again but if you are not getting out or are enjoying Florida sunshine you can still join on Zoom! Link is on the club website.

Books

If you have any unsold centennial books you can bring them to Monday's meeting. Or you can take them to the Decatur County Community Foundation office at your convenience.

Pay Your Dues

Don't forget to pay your dues. Quarterly statements were recently emailed to members by Linda Simmons. If you have any questions about your bill contact Linda at 812-560-3634 or lvsimms@yahoo.com.

Next Program

Author of Hoosier Beginnings, Ken Bikoff, will speak about Indiana University sports, especially basketball and football. Should be an interesting program (even if you are a Purdue fan!)
