Program:

Jason Nulton, Vienna Indoor Aquaculture, discussed the health benefits and trends of growing pants via aquaculture. Vienna Indoor Aquaculture (VIA) is a local startup business located behind Cheddar ♦s at 100 in Vienna, WV. They are a subsidiary of the ACE Educational Foundation (ACE P3, LLC) and their aim is to bring indoor aquaculture to the Mid-Ohio Valley.

In early 2019, VIA purchased an unused City of Vienna vehicle maintenance facility and began renovating it for the installation of ultraviolet ♦ grow lights, ♦ four 50-ft rows of ECSIA ♦ troughs and grow trays, and four large fish tanks. ECSIA ♦♦s patented aquaculture technology is designed to produce high nutrition, flavorful produce, with a significantly longer shelf-life than standard produce. On average, their locally-grown organic products are expected to be turned every four weeks, 365 days a year (even out of season). Fish waste is mineralized to nourish nutrient-dense produce (herbs, leafy greens, tomatoes, and berries, etc.), and product will be available for medical prescription to cardiac, psychological, diabetic, and other medical patients under a local "FARMacy" program.

A portion of their electrical power needs are augmented by solar panels supplied by Pickering Energy. Their employees bring nearly 100 years of construction, business, leadership, and project management experience to the table to aid in the promotion and success of VIA.

Eventually, they hope to expand our business to include more greenhouses, and expand our work with health providers.
