Program—Michael Adkins—Lawrence County
Director of Schools

Pictured above: President Heath Hill, Lawrence County Director of Schools Michael Adkins and Program Chair Ben Luna. Adkins gave an update on school opening plans for 2020 including options for hybrid and on-line programs for Lawrence County students. He said the ultimate goal is to get students back into the classroom 5 days per week, but that consideration must be given for Covid exposures they might transmit to or from others living in their household. The hybrid program will place students in the classroom two days per week with on-line learning three days per week. The Pioneer Virtual Academy is available for students in grades 4 – 12 and is a 100% on-line experience with each student learning under the direction of an LCSS teacher. 77% of local families have chosen the hybrid option.

According to Adkins, presentation of core subjects including reading, math, and science should be fine under an on-line format; but students will be missing the interaction with teachers that comes only from in person contact. To illustrate the point, he related several personal experiences as a student from a poor neighborhood growing up in Lawrence County. He also spoke of how most teachers miss being in the classroom with "their kids".

At the Board of Director's meeting July 13th, the Board voted on the following: A member may request a credit on their dues of $25/ month, up to 2 months totaling $50, for reimbursement of meals for the two months the club did not hold meetings due to COVID-19. It is the member's responsibility, if they want the credit, to let John Beasley know (or by other means of directly contacting him) by August 31, 2020

Middle Tennessee District Fair Keeps Planning Options Open For 2020

The Lawrenceburg Rotary Club is continuing to make plans for the 2020 Middle Tennessee District Fair, however a final decision to open has not yet been made. If the decision is made to open, fair organizers have determined that this year’s fair will be an outdoor only event.

According to Fair Manager Tad Keaton, “We are nearly two months away from our planned opening and fair organizers are carefully monitoring the Covid 19 health situation. No one knows what the situation will be in late September, but a decision made now to cancel would be irreversible while continuing to plan maintains the option to open or cancel based on evolving conditions. The public may rest assured that MTFD and The Rotary Club will make a responsible decision on whether or not to open well before opening day”.

If a final decision is made to open, the 2020 Middle Tennessee District Fair will be an outdoor only event. Indoor events including Fairest of the Fair pageants, indoor commercial exhibits, and indoor agricultural and creative arts exhibits have been cancelled in the interest of public safety. Outdoor events including the Wade Shows midway, arena events, food booths, livestock shows and other outdoor attractions will operate subject to social distancing and other public health guidelines.

The Riley Green Concert scheduled for Monday evening, September 28 has been cancelled. Riley Green is an energetic entertainer whose fans like to stand in a large group close to the stage. This poses an unacceptable health risk for our guests and steps needed to ensure a safe event would greatly inhibit their concert experience. Therefore, fair organizers made the decision to cancel the Riley Green Concert for 2020 and will discuss with the artist where we go from here.

Fair organizers have confirmed that our carnival provider will be taking extraordinary measures to minimize Covid exposure on the midway, and additional steps will be implemented at MTFD entrance gates, outside venues, and public restrooms. Fairgoers will be encouraged to wear masks during their visit and a decision on whether masks will be required for all visitors will be made at a later date.

Planned fair dates are September 24 thru October 3, 2020 with specific event line up to be announced in the near future.
