Program—Lawrence County Drug Coalition by Alesha Harris & Nichols

Pictured : President Heath Hill, Alesha Harris, Nicole Miller and presenter Tina Holt. LCSAP is a grant funded organization that promotes awareness of issues surrounding substance abuse in Lawrence County. The group is forming a coalition of numerous sectors including education, law enforcement, business, medical, faith based, civic clubs, and other groups to address various substance abuse concerns. Harris described how individuals can become dependent on opioids and other substances through no fault of their own and how community awareness and support is crucial for individuals who are trying to break their addiction. She discussed the use of Narcan as a temporary life saving measure during an overdose episode, but stressed that it is not a long term cure for addiction. She also discussed the nationwide Red Ribbon Week that will be observed during the last week in October.

Nicole Miller discussed some of the initiatives she coordinates with local schools including work with School Resource Officers. She displayed a Front Porch Fun Pack that SRO’s may bring to home visits for students who may be having attendance or other issues. Fun Packs include family resource materials, a medication lock box, and fun materials such as coloring books, cards, and other items for family members

Lawrenceburg Rotarians Man Booth At
Ingram Sowell No Fair Festival

With cancellation of the Lawrenceburg Rotary's 2020 Middle Tennessee District Fair, many local organizations produced their own fundraisers to replace the revenues they normally would have generated from their fair participation. Ingram Sowell Elementary school held a "No Fair" festival on September 30. Local civic organizations donated personnel and resources to prepare and sell fair food and other merchandise to customers on a drive thru basis. The event was well attended with all proceeds going to programs benefiting students at ISES,. Lawrenceburg Rotarians manned the Funnel Cake Booth.
