Sergeant at Arms, Michelle McManamon

kicked us off last week if you missed us. We also congratulated super star Mary Marx as our Rotarian of the month for January! You do so much for our club and we couldn't be more appreciative for your dedication to TBRCITW!

A very informative presentation by Christina Mershell, Business Development Coordinator for the UF Health Proton Therapy Institute. Since opening its doors, University of Florida Health Proton Therapy Institute has offered thousands of patients a promising alternative to traditional radiation. A lower risk of side effects, more precise treatment capabilities, and an impressive success rate make proton therapy an option for patients diagnosed with many different types of cancer. Protons can be directed to reach only the areas of the body that are affected by cancer. This leads to more accurate therapy, with less risk that healthy tissue will be exposed to radiation - and this can reduce the risk of complications and side effects. Fewer treatment complications mean that physicians can deliver higher doses of proton radiation to cancer sites, and an increased dose of proton radiation can improve the chances for a successful outcome.
