Jim Hill

Jim Hill has been retired for six years. He has four children and fourteen grandchildren. He wanted to stay busy in retirement. Volunteering is his choice to keep active. Organizations that help Children in need are his area of interest.

Jim attended Wichita State University in his hometown of Wichita Kansas and attended Seminole Community College in Florida.

Before retiring after 30 years Jim was sales and marketing manager for Florida Cooling Supply. He worked his way up to that position by working as a territory salesman, branch manager, regional manager, and operations manager.

Jim enjoys camping, (actually Glamping) in a 32ft RV with his wife of 26 years, Linda. Also reading, and playing with grandchildren.

He is part of a subgroup of Florida Freewheelers. He rides weekly with a group that raises money through the year by charging each rider for missing a ride. The group supplies bikes and helmets for a hospice group at Christmas each year. He spent one year on the board of directors for the club. The Florida Freewheelers are a 501-C3. The club donates to bike riding needs in the Central Florida Area.

Jim volunteered at Kid's House of Seminole County for over a year. One of his duties was assistant to the grant writer.

Currently Jim is a Guardian ad Litem for Seminole County. He is still active with cases and plans to continue. He also participates in the Guardian ad Litem Information Nights assisting the recruiter in answering questions from the Volunteer Child Advocate view.

Jim is on the board of directors for the Isles of Oviedo HOA serving as treasurer.

Jim is also President of the 501(C)3 charity "Friends of Abused Children". Friends is a charity that fills in the gaps that the state-run Guardian Program cannot fill.

Robert "Brandon" Lindemann

Lt. Lindemann grew up in rural Southern Illinois, where he watched, his father, mother, and grandmother fight fires, treat the injured, and respond to medical emergencies as Volunteer Firefighters and EMT's. Brandon followed in their footsteps, beginning his career in the emergency services field in 1991 as a lifeguard and CPR instructor for the American Red Cross and volunteer firefighter for the local fire department.

Lt Lindemann joined the Lake Mary Fire Department on July 5, 2001 and began his professional career as a Firefighter / EMT. He also instructs Live Fire (LFTI), Vehicle and Machinery Rescue (VMR Technician), and various other EMS and firefighting training classes for the department. Lt Lindemann also teaches EMT and Paramedic Labs at Seminole State College.
