Dr Bashir A. Dattoo

Dr Bashir Ahmed Dattoo was born in Zanzibar, an island off the coast of Tanzania, and grew up in a family and a broader community that was imbued with Islamic ideology and steeped in its traditions. He attended a religious school in the evenings for several years to learn the fundamentals of Islam.

Dr Dattoo completed his post high-school education in Zanzibar before proceeding to the Makerere University in Uganda to study for his bachelor's degree. Next, he went to the London School of Economics and Political Science of the University of London for his doctoral studies.

On his return to Tanzania, Dr Dattoo taught at the University of Dar es Salaam in the capital city from 1968-1976 where he rose to the rank of associate professor and head of the department of geography. On a sabbatical leave in 1972, and then in 1976, he came to the Minnesota University in Minneapolis and the Princeton University in New Jersey, respectively, as a visiting research fellow.

Dr Dattoo left academia in 1977 to enter the field of marketing research and consulting. He worked for a couple of leading firms in New Jersey and Pennsylvania as a senior vice president focusing on the application of advanced statistical and modelling techniques to business marketing issues.

Dr Dattoo is the author of

Perspectives on Islamic Faith and History
Bookend Revolutions in Islamic History
Islam: Misconceptions and Challenges
