Let's grow Rotary

Friday, September 24, 2021

Luke Smith talked to fellow Rotary Club of Franklin Daybreak members on Tuesday, Sept. 21 about membership and the importance of growing the club. Rotary is the second largest service club in the world and has a reputation of attracting people who make a difference in their communities, their country and internationally. Luke pointed out some famous people who have been or are currently Rotarians including JC Penney, Colonel Sanders, Sam Walton and the infamous Ron Winecoff. (And let's not forget his band of brothers Dave Jones and Ed Shatley). On average two out of every three people invited to Rotary become members. Luke encouraged members to make a list of people they know who are interested in doing good in the world and invite them to Rotary. If you haven't been to one of our meetings recently, we meet at First United Methodist Church in Franklin at 7:30 a.m. every Tuesday. Pictured: Rotary Club of Franklin Daybreak President Angela Dills knows fellow Rotarians have her back. In this case Luke uses her back as a screen when talking about membership.
