THIS WEEK at Rotary - Monte Coughlin - Drone Pilot

By Constance H. Knox on Wednesday, November 3, 2021

Monte Coughlin has been the Owner of Carolina Video Edit Centers since 1998. It is a Video & TV production studio.

• He produces content for Spectrum, Local TV Stations, New Hanover and City of Wilmington TV, Corning, GE, Brunswick Electric and Atlantic Telephone Membership Co. as well as the Wilmington's Hotel Tourist TV Channel.

His career started in commercial radio, then he later owned and managed an AM/FM-Cable TV stations in upstate NY for 28 years. He then relocated to Wilmington to start a corporate & TV production company.

Monte has been an instrument rated private pilot since 2006 and flew often prior to that to take aerial videos and photographs.

He is among the first in North Carolina to obtain an FAA Remote Unmanned Aerial System License in 2016 (drone pilot), soon after they started being issued.

He has successfully integrated drones into the production capabilities of Carolina Video Edit Center.

Additionally, he has trained City of Wilmington, Brunswick Electric employees, and several individuals in drone operations and procedures helping them to obtain their FAA Part 107 Commercial Pilot Licenses.

This week Monte is talking to us all about drones, their evolution, and where we're headed next.
