Speaker of the Week - Lisa Haas, Miss Ruby's Kids

Lisa Haas was born in Charleston, SC and raised in Texas, where she graduated from Permian High School of the football movie and TV show fame- Friday Night Lights (Go MOJO). After graduating from Texas State University (Go BOBCATS), Lisa worked for years in the restaurant business, which paid her way through college. She always says the restaurant business will prepare you for any line of work in life, bookkeeping, inventory, public relations, janitorial, cooking, insurance, sales, and more.

After moving back to SC in 2001 with her three children to be closer to her family, Lisa worked as a commercial insurance agent for a local insurance agency. In 2013 Lisa left the insurance business and set out on her own; she opened Green Bean Consignment Boutique, which allowed her flexibility of hours and the chance to help keep Georgetown greener. Operating her retail business on Front Street led her to join the Georgetown Business Association. She served on the Executive Board in several positions for five years, including Secretary (3 years), the Music in the Park Committee (5 years), and the DMO Treasurer (2 years) for the City of Georgetown's marketing. While her children were in school, she served on many event committees such as the Georgetown School of Arts and Sciences Oyster Roast and the PTO; all organizations helped her learn how to organize events.

In 2018, Lisa joined Miss Ruby's Kids team as the bookkeeper while still running her store. After the Executive Director left, Lisa took the Director of Operations' position and serves as one of two MRK Directors. Lisa manages the day to day finances, grant writing, payroll, human resources, compliance, and outreach. Lisa closed the Green Bean in 2020 due to covid19, and now, with her children grown, a Barber, an Educator, and the last one in Culinary School, she focuses on her one grandchild and Miss Ruby's Kids' mission.
