Welcome, and Pledge

President Mark (hereinafter known as (PM) convened the meeting just a little late, but it was worth the wait. Alex Nunez did a splendid job of leading the Pledge.

Moment of Silence

PM took a few minutes to explain the moment of silence. Numerous members offered up concerns about family, friends, and neighbors to be remembered during the silent moment.

Thought for the Day

PM called on John Lawson to give his thought for the day. The Editorial Staff of the Rotogram summarized his presentation as follows. As you encounter people and events, endeavor to see, feel, and know them. PM declared to John, "Nailed it."

Guests & Visiting Rotarians

PM introduced Hugh Lynn from the Napa Sunrise Rotary. He is currently setting up a branch office of his business in Lakeport.

Faith introduced Don Smith from the Clearlake Rotary Club.

A woman who needs no introduction is Kamlin Fasano from the Kelseyville Rotary Club.

Our speaker and someone whose name I didn't catch was present, of course.

Detective & Happy Bucks

David Moon-Wainwright substituted in for Lance. He started with Happy Bucks, and called on Brock, who was not volunteering and had nothing to be happy about. Brock failed to realize that we don't care about the "happy" part. We just want the $10, which we got.

Greg Scott volunteered that he is happy that some of his rights as a citizen are still in existence. Those rights are worth $10.

Laura is ecstatic that the Candidate Forum is over, and her reviews were good.

Was the stress worth the $10? And now on to the real Detective.

Alex evidently shouldered our mild-mannered detective away from the Bar in order to refill her wine glass before the meeting started. Alex was acting like a normal Rotarian who needs wine. I don't think Alex deserved a fine. Kelly must agree with me because she paid Alex's fine.

Announcements

Kamlin announced that her Signage Committee will have a work party on Jan.13 at 11:00 at This Hospice. This is part of a joint project of Lakeport and Kelseyville Rotary. Please join in nd help.

Our Crab Feed needs more sponsors. If you have a wealthy friend, ask him or her to become a sponsor. If your friend is not wealthy, why waste time on them? We also need to have you sign up for your Crab dinner in order to get a head count. If you sign 5 or more people up, PM will give you 100 Paul Harris points. Finally, we need Auction items, so clean out your closet.

Speaker

The CEO of Sutter Lakeside Hospital, gave us a run-down of the health services available at Sutter and their Clinics. He brought some staff with him because he was concerned that Faith might disrupt his presentation. No violence occurred, and Faith was her charming self
