Happy New Year!

President's Message

I currently serve on the board for the Bach Society of Dayton and am a bit biased, but I hope that all who attended the Monday, December 18 meeting enjoyed the performance as much as I did.

I heard from several Rotarians that they loved having the group with us for the first time. I did hear from a few members who didn't understand the words of the songs sung in Hebrew. I am responsible for that, as I asked the music director to perform some pieces that were non-traditional and to perform some songs that celebrated other holidays, besides just Christmas music. We have a diverse membership and I am striving to make sure we celebrate that diversity in many ways this year, especially during the holiday season. I really appreciate that the chorus provided a wide variety of music to lift our spirits.

Ultimately, whatever holiday(s) you celebrate, whatever religion you practice or whatever spiritual journey you are following right now, I hope the next few weeks bring you joy, peace and happiness. I only ask that you keep the 4-Way Test in mind as you celebrate with family, friends&#x2013;everyone.

Looking forward to kicking off the second half of the Rotary year with each of you in January, 2024!

Happy New Year!

Kim

Dillin â€™ Creating Neighborhoods, Bringing Communities to Life!

Larry Dillin, Dillin Development will be speaking to us about the Dillin Mission: Create Legacy; Enhance Quality of Life; Strengthen Social Fabric; Energize Neighborhoods. Dillin has a special expertise in master-planned, mixed-use community place making. Walk-ability, architecture and connectivity matter to Dillin who focuses on the integration with surrounding neighborhoods and sustainable investment that improves the entire community. Creating legacy projects that enhance quality of life and strengthen the social fabric of a community by energizing neighborhoods are the driving force behind the planning efforts of a Dillin program. Projects that harmonize with their neighbors and inject investment to enliven communities add to the character and alluring result of a master-planned effort.

Known internationally as a leading Post-Impressionist, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec (French, 1864–1901) made art that explores the cabarets, race tracks, music halls, circuses, cafés and brothels of bohemian Paris of the late 19th century. Filled with empathy and humor, his images offer a captivating, nearly journalistic view of Paris in la belle époque (the beautiful era). Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec: The Birth of Modern Paris features more than 240 works that highlight the artist's remarkable achievements in printmaking, where modern life blends with the flowing lines of Art Nouveau. Like few artists of his time, Toulouse-Lautrec merged art and life. He produced theatre advertisements, book covers, invitations, café menus and lithographs, without distinguishing between fine and commercial art. His famous posters, which adorned the kiosks of Paris and immortalized the era's entertainers like Loïe Fuller, Aristide Bruant and Jane Avril, are shown alongside many original drawings—where we find the seeds of inspiration. Also featured are rare photographs of Toulouse-Lautrec and his family, with handwritten letters from the artist.

An internationally traveling exhibition, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec: The Birth of Modern Paris is a single source exhibition provided by Pan Art Connections, with the support of The Museum Box.
