SEEKING HELP: POLIO HITS CLOSE TO HOME IN CORVALLIS/ALBANY

By Joe H. Vincent

2018-07-29

It never ceases to amaze me how deep and broad are all the stories about how Rotary touches and enriches lives...sometimes very close to home. An old friend called me a week ago, and we talked about changes happening in his life in recent years. I was not at all aware that he was a childhood survivor of paralytic polio. It seems this dreadful disease struck him from the waist down as a toddler. His recovery was long and painful, but thankfully complete...until just a few years ago.

THE 'CHICKEN AND EGG' REASON WHY POLIO OUTBREAKS STILL HAPPEN

By Nelson R. Maler

2018-07-29

By Jacqueline Howard, CNN:

If polio is near extinction, why do outbreaks still pop up in places where the disease was thought to be long gone? The answer is complicated.

Global efforts to destroy disease-causing polioviruses have been quite a success story. Cases caused by the wild poliovirus have dropped 99% since 1988, thanks to vaccination efforts and a public-private partnership launched that year called the Global Polio Eradication Initiative.
