PROGRAM LAST WEEK by John Lindsay

The Aiken Rotary club heard history recounted and made history of its own during the first meeting of the New Year 2018. Aiken County Historical Museum director Brenda Barratto, accompanied by Louisiana Sanders Wright and Larry Friday, outlined plans for the March 10th Founders' Day community event to highlight the role of the African American community in the founding of Aiken County. Three African-American citizens, formerly slaves and unable to read or write, were among a delegation of eight men that traveled to Columbia to convince South Carolina officials of the need to create the county. The Founders' Day event, endorsed by then Governor Nikki Hailey, will include programs at the museum in addition to educational presentations in Aiken County public schools.

Making a bit of its own history, the club inducted 77 Paul Harris Fellows, 46 of whom received their first PHF award while 31 members were awarded additional PHF recognition. Four community leaders selected by the Rotary Foundation committee chaired by Ellen Priest were recognized for their contributions and leadership in Aiken. Club president John described the induction ceremony and the scope of the presentation as "historic" and a true indicator of the vitality of the club.
