Program for July 26

Judith Wasserheit, MD, MPH: Global Health Issues

Judith N. Wasserheit, MD, MPH has worked extensively at the interface of sexually transmitted infections (STI) and HIV clinical-epidemiological research, programs and policy in the U.S. and globally. She is the William H. Foege Chair of the Department of Global Health, and Professor of Global Health, Professor of Medicine, and Adjunct Professor of Epidemiology at the University of Washington. She was the founding chief of the U.S. NIH's STD Research Branch; Director of the U.S. CDC's STD Prevention Program, and Director of the HIV Vaccine Trials Network, the largest global clinical trials platform evaluating preventive HIV vaccines.

Her research has included one of the first laparoscopic studies of pelvic inflammatory disease etiology conducted in the US; the first population-based study of the prevalence and etiologic spectrum of sexually transmitted infections among rural women in the Indian subcontinent; and research on the interrelationships between sexually transmitted infections and contraceptive practices in other parts of the developing world, including Bangladesh, Egypt, and Indonesia. Dr. Wasserheit has also worked in Colombia, Kenya, Thailand and Zambia. Her development of the concept of epidemiological synergy between HIV infection and other sexually transmitted infections has had a major influence on HIV prevention policy and programs around the world. Currently, in addition to ongoing work on STI/HIV interactions, her research focuses on human papillomavirus (HPV) infection and cervical cancer elimination and on integrated systems approaches to pandemic disease preparedness and global health security.

Dr. Wasserheit has broad experience working successfully with national and international agencies, governments, and colleagues on sexually transmitted infections and HIV research, policy and programmatic issues. She has led or served on numerous World Health Organization and UNAIDS committees and advisory groups. Her many honors include the U.S. DHHS Presidential Meritorious Rank Award, the Infectious Diseases Society of America's Edward E. Kass Award, and the American Social Health Association's Presidential Award. She is a member of the National Academy of Medicine (formerly the Institute of Medicine) of the National Academies of Science, a Fellow in the American College of Physicians, a Paul Rogers Society Global Health Research Ambassador, a founding member and past chair of the Consortium of Universities for Global Health, and in 2009 was the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine's Heath Clark Endowed Lecturer. She is a member of the American Epidemiological Society and the Johns Hopkins Society of Scholars.

Club Board Approves Applications for New Club Members at July 15 Meeting

Ellen Frick has been proposed for club membership by Ezra Teshome.

Ellen is a registered professional engineer in Washington. She currently works as a documentary film maker of NGO activities and owns Wall Fly Films (www.wallflyfilms.com, business email wallflyfilms@gmail.com).

Ellen has traveled to Africa to make films about Rotary projects, including polio inoculation and, most recently, eco-toilets in Rwanda. The latter will soon be available on Rotary International's water and sanitation site (www.porttownsendrotary.org/eco-toilet.htm).

Originally from Buffalo, New York, Ellen is a graduate of UCLA and the University of Washington, with bachelor's degrees in Geology and Civil Engineering. She also holds a certificate in documentary film making from the University of Washington.

Ellen has been a member of the Port Townsend Rotary Club since 2002. She has recently moved to Seattle and lives in West Seattle. She enjoys sports and community activities. Her email address is ellenfrick@me.com and her cell phone is 206-218-4749.

Doug Frick has also been proposed for club membership by Ezra Teshome.

Doug was born and raised in California, moved to Delaware, spent 15 years in Texas, and then moved to Washington.

He retired in 2014 after serving ten years as the Development Engineering Manager of Kitsap County's Department of Community Development. Before taking the position with Kitsap County, he started an environmental company, sold it, retired (in 2002), then tried film making for a couple years.

Doug holds a B.S. in Geology from the University of Delaware and an M.A. in Geology from the University of Missouri-Columbia. He was a consulting hydro-geologist for 25 years.

Doug's community memberships include the Mountaineers Foundation, where he is a Board member, the Hazel Wolf Environmental Film Network, the Mountaineer Players (theater), and the Northwest Singers. His special interests include water supply, sanitation and infrastructure. His hobbies are sailing, petanque, golf and travel.

Doug lives in West Seattle. His email address is douglasfrick@yahoo.com and his cell phone is 206-595-9068.

Farewell to Former Club Members

Club members terminated as of June 30, 2019, included Michelle Chung Chou, Maria Johnson, Ed Raftis, Tiffany Whitehurst, Glenn Coates, Lawrie Payne, and Bud Saxberg. All were active club members and will be missed. As of the end of June, our club had 98 members and 9 honorary members.

Firesides/Potlucks Coming Back!

This coming Friday, there will be sign-up sheets on each table so members can offer their houses, apartments, patios or back yards to host fellow Rotarians and partners or friends at small group dinners with good conversation. Once again, Marion Klein-Pfeiffer has volunteered to coordinate (marionklein@comcast.net, 425-773-0832).

How it works: Host offers home and date. Marion announces general location and puts out sign-up sheets for the number of guests that can be accommodated. Host provides main dish. Guests bring side dishes. Marion coordinates potluck contributions and lets attendees know the exact address and host name just before the event.

Club Board Approves Strategic Plan

At the July 15, 2019, club board meeting a three-year strategic plan for our club was approved. It will be presented to club members at our regular lunch meeting on August 9. That meeting will also be a Club Assembly, with the strategic plan being the principal topic of discussion.

The strategic plan was developed based on the ideas developed at the Club Planning Retreat held last May 4. That retreat was facilitated by Lisa Latchford and attended by more than 40 club members.

A result of the retreat was a statement of our club purpose: We the University District Rotary Club exist to fill unmet community and world needs by combining our diverse talents and skills to be positive agents for change. We are BETTER TOGETHER!

The strategic plan has three focus areas:

>Our Club >Our Community >Our World

All members are encouraged to attend August 9, so we can have the maximum input about ways we can actualize our strategic goals.
