President's Message

Fun Times Ahead!

Our social committee, chaired by THE social butterfly, Dona Vella, is hard-at-work planning for a wide variety of activities and opportunities to help all of us get social!

I know, we are all very busy with work, family, church, school and a dozen other things going on in our lives. Sometimes it is difficult to squeeze one more thing into our hectic schedules. I attempt to not schedule too many weeknight evenings "out" because my dog deserves to have me at home with him, after a long day alone. I get it!

However, I encourage all of you to consider attending just one of the many fun social events that Dona and her committee are planning for the next several months. Maybe try something you've never done before or plan to bring your spouse or guest with you to a dinner out.

I've mentioned it before – there's something for EVERYONE!

We have the following planned or in the works:

- Dayton Rotary Dines Out – Wednesday, September 20 – The Foundry – 6:00 p.m.
- Fireside Chat – Join other members to talk about Rotary and enjoy adult beverages near a campfire (hopefully in October)
- Bowling kick-off and cheerleading (you don't have to bowl!)
- WSU Theatre "Cabaret" – Thursday, November 9 – WSU Creative Arts Center – Reception prior to the performance (exact times to be determined)
- Holiday caroling at local nursing homes
- Dinner and a movie at the Neon
- Axe-throwing and beers (what a great combination!)
- Dayton Art Institute exhibit and curator program
- Wine-tasting in the Fire Block District

NOW, if you don't see what you enjoy doing on the list, please, contact me or Dona and share your ideas and suggestions. We are open to just about anything and are looking forward to socializing with our fellow Dayton Rotarians.

Thank you!
Kim

Sinclair Community College - or on Zoom

"Youth & Peace in Action - Modeling Positive Peacebuilding for Communities"

Patricia Shafer is Executive Director of NewGen Peacebuilders which is the implementing organization for Youth & Peace in Action (YPA), including the education programs. Rotary has nearly a 100-year history of being a voice for peace, and today, Peace and Conflict Resolution is one of Rotary's seven areas of focus. Along with Rotary strategic partner the Institute for Economics & Peace, a framework known as the Eight Pillars as well as the notion of "positive peacebuilding" have been gaining momentum with clubs and districts around the world. In this inspiring presentation, preceding the International Day of Peace, Sept. 21st, we'll hear about what's been happening and what else District 6670 can do to make a difference!

Chair of the Day, Frank Scott addressed the room and asked Laura Roesch to come forward to accept a donation in the amount of $3,000 to Catholic Social Services. Frank then thanked everyone for their generosity as the Foundation can provide multiple donations throughout the year as a result of the generosity of club members. Dayton has donated $710K over time to the annual fund. Matt Scarr was presented with his seventh Paul Harris Fellowship!

Frank introduced our speaker of the day, District Governor Doug Buchy who spoke on the topic "This is Not my Father's Rotary Club Anymore".

Doug shared that he was a member of Dayton Rotary several years ago. He congratulated members on various club initiatives. The focus of his remarks today will be on youth programs. For each of the local high schools in Dayton, there are no interact clubs. Please reach out and connect with the students to start building the future of Rotary. Rotary is old! Doug shared that he moved from Dayton to the Springboro club, and it has now grown from 13 to 36 members. Changes have happened organically over the years after Paul Harris founded the first Rotary Club in Chicago 1905. Doug shared more of the history of Rotary in Ohio including the origins of #47 – here in Dayton. The first major philanthropic effort was the eradicate polio in the world. The impact of the pandemic allowed the opportunity for the clubs to meet virtually through Zoom, which has helped to engage members. Its now the new "global Rotary!"

Doug highlighted the need to focus on mental health and encouraged everyone to ensure that if you, or anyone you know, needs help to reach out and connect. We are here to create hope in the world and as Rotarians we owe to ourselves and the community.

Tom Carlisle would like to highlight his attendance from New York! This confirms that global Rotary exists!

Matt Scarr won the opportunity to draw a card and he selected the Queen of Clubs; close but no cigar. The pot continues to grow with approximately $2,800 waiting for everyone next week.

Kim Bramlage reminded everyone to attend next week when Patricia Shafer, the Executive Director of New Generation Peace Builders will be the guest speaker.

Hank Betts led the four-way test. The meeting was then adjourned by President Bramlage at 1:05.
