

MINUTARIAN from DG MARK

For meetings the Week of August 10, 2020

“In the middle of difficulty lies opportunity.” — Albert Einstein

It may appear to be a time of stagnation, but let’s explore the opportunities for you as an individual and for your club during these difficult times. Let’s start with you....

During the Covid 19 pandemic, especially if you are working from home, forge new connections through multiple channels and online communities. Start thinking about the in-person relationships you have that could take on a new form in our current reality. Stay positive and help your neighbors.

For your club...Focus on needs and try new ideas. Think ahead and have a plan. Service above self applies as always. Food hardships exist everywhere. We can continue to help with that. We are very good at that, but we can likely do more. Assess what your community needs and tap the resources and the members to help.
