As a member of Post 912, he helps organize/carry out local events, participate in "ride-alongs" with officers, and take part in weekly meetings geared towards the training of new explorers. In his free time, he enjoys strength training, doing homework, completing projects, and any other tasks that need to be done. After that he will complete the police academy program and become a police officer, most likely in Pinellas County. To make an impact on the world for the better, he would simply ensure that each and every thing he does will be to the best of his ability. She also volunteers for a non-profit organization known as Pretty Young Bosses. Here volunteers encourage and help young ladies from ages 10 through 17 to see that they are the future of our generation and that it is up to them to inspire their peers to make the world a better place. During her free time, she loves to go on mini shopping sprees. Whether buying clothes, shoes, makeup, or even accessories for her outfits, it's one of those things she really enjoys doing. She will be attending St. Petersburg College, majoring in Nursing with a goal to become a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner. Like Dr Martin Luther King, she has a dream. She hopes to help end unemployment regardless of a person's color, citizenship status, education or criminal background. She hopes that even just one positive encounter will influence a life.
