Make-ups

Today is our transition. Scott gave his farewell address and recognized that we were one of only 3 clubs that grew this year.

He recognized Traci Naugle, Joe Fagnani, Don Ruggery and Paula Foreman for their help throughout the year. And asked us not to forget our two outstanding members that we lost this year, of Irv Seltzer and Rex Kaup.

Phil Dubrow, immediate past president installed Traci Naugle as our new club president.

She is the 105th president of the rotary club of Altoona.

Installation of officers,
President Elect Alison Seltzer
Vice President Seth Smith
Treasurer Chris Michelone
Secretary Richard Johnston

Installation of board of directors Traci Naugle given the gavel and shared her focus on membership engagement. She would like to engage more in Eclub for those who cannot attend in person, focus.

On community involvement, service opportunities and possibly engage with Penn Highlands for Rotaract. Traci would like to bring back newsletters and the directory.
A donation has been made in Scott's honor to Flags for Heroes.

President Traci shared famous birthday and this day in history.

Rotarians with guests: Frank Fiore's guest is Adam Shore- Fiore furniture

District foundation grant training is coming up if anyone would like to participate.

Please complete the information sheet for the directory that is on the table or emailed to you.

New members inducted today are Greg Smith and Tara Eney.

Presentation

Christy Collins introduced Matt Dumbauld, owner of Living Treasures Animal Park. This family friendly wild animal park is located in Donegal, PA. Matt has been working at the park since 2009 and took over ownership in 2010 from his wife's family. The park is growing and constantly updating the variety and number of animals that you can see and touch. They also offer log cabin lodge and suites that you can stay in during your visit. Living Treasures gives back to the community of Donegal, supporting their local fire department and providing Educational opportunities to students. They recently began training for state police in exotic animal husbandry.
