PRINCE GEORGE — The Rotary Club of Prince George County meets each Wednesday morning to conduct business, entertain speakers and welcome guests. Rotarians seek to improve the world through many channels. Many of the members are in service to the public, like club president Percy Ashcraft, who serves as county administrator for Prince George, or Donald Hunter, who is a member of the Board of Supervisors. Jane Rowley works with volunteers at the Appomattox Regional Library System, and Chana Ramsey is the CEO of James House, a nonprofit organization serving victims of sexual and domestic violence.

Last week, club members Irma Brown, Floyd Brown and F.J. Brown attended the Grand Chapter Order of the Eastern Star of Virginia Annual Conference in James City County, where scholarships and grants were given to deserving youth and nonprofit organizations in an effort to improve lives.

A statement released by the Rotary Club of Prince George County members Kevin Strosnider, Shel Douglas and Dana Rieves are pictured at a recent club meeting. The club meets each Wednesday morning, 7:30 a.m., at Rosa's Italian Ristorante in Hopewell.

Rotary Club of Prince George reads, "Are you a world changer? Join us! Guests are welcome anytime. Join us any Wednesday morning at 7:30 a.m. at Rosa's Italian Ristorante, 4098 Oaklawn Blvd, Hopewell. We're the lively crowd in the back room having fun as we improve our community and our world."

About Rotary International: According to the statement, "We are 1.2 million neighbors, friends, and community leaders who come together to create positive, lasting change in our communities and around the world. Rotary Club of Prince George County is a proud cog in this global wheel."
