March 13, 2012 Program by Paul Ward

Julia Stephens, newly appointed Executive Director of CrisisLink, told us of the extensive suicide prevention efforts undertaken by the information and referral Hotlines maintained on a 24-hour basis, largely by volunteers. The more recent CareRing program makes free daily check-in phone calls to those living alone, keeping minor issues that come up from escalating into major emergencies. Julia emphasized the many opportunities for volunteer participation in these programs.

Vance Zevella reminded us of the March Madness on-line competition through CBS Sports, through which the McLean Rotary Foundation can raise funds for its efforts.

Carmen Wu encouraged all to contribute chocolate goodies to the McLean Rotary chocolate basket to be raffled off at the District Conference to raise funds for Polio Plus.

Ed Shahin announced that the books for the Timberlane School reading project have arrived, and the program is well off to a good start come March 28.

President Cherry inducted new member Dominic Alexander, sponsored by Bob Hahne.

Dominic Alexander was happy to now be a member of our Club.

Dale Lazar is proud that his daughter, Vaness is doing a service project in Guatemala.

Matt Howard bragged on his son getting basketball Player of the Year, and his 16 year old getting his driver's license.

Kathy Martin was happy to have spent a week skiing in Park City, Utah, then a week at the seaside.

Mike Holleran told of the basketball team he coaches having been behind by four points with less than ten seconds on the clock and then pulling off a victory which put them in the championship game, then winning the title.

John Rosenbaum spent a relaxed time in Maine, then a less relaxed time driving back with a truckload of furniture.

Masgood Chaudry was happy to have been a greeter, which caused a Rotarian who will remain nameless to say that's the most he had ever said at a Rotary meeting.
