Program – June 11 by Dominic Alexander

Mr. Gene Poteat is a retired senior Central Intelligence Agency executive who was awarded the CIA's Intelligence Medal of Merit and the National Reconnaissance Office Meritorious Civilian Award. He is President of AFIO (Association of Former Intelligence Officers), and previously served on the Board of Advisors of the International Spy Museum. In addition, he serves as a Member of the Advisory Board of Intellaine, LLP, a U.S. defense and risk engineering firm located in Arlington, Virginia.

Mr. Poteat presented “The History of History: What Your History Books Didn’t Tell You,” and entertained us with stories and anecdotes of espionage and secrets including (but not limited to): George Washington’s superior spy abilities, Sun-Tzu’s war zen, the lack of civility in a Civil War, JFK’s rum-runner dad Joe, and Lafayette’s original intentions in helping out in the American Revolutionary War. Much was learned.
