Program - July 9 - By Jan Auerbach

Bob Rosenbaum led members in Rotary Academic 101, complete with Mortarboard. Members were divided into two teams, one led by Todd Dempsey and the other by Jan Auerbach.

There were questions about Rotary International (when, where, why and by whom founded, and where the name Rotary came from), origin of the Four Way Test, when Polio Plus began and what diseases are covered with the "Plus," criteria for membership, types of membership, attendance requirements, and many more. He also asked questions about when our club was founded, by whom, and which club our founder belonged to before starting the McLean club. For answers to all these questions, see Bob. The winning team got Hershey kisses, which they then shared with the losing team in the spirit of Rotary.

Announcements - July 9 - By Jan Auerbach

Brian Pence will be sending in the gift card order today. He has received only four orders so far.

Lois Wilson reminded everyone that the deadline for submitting project proposals is July 16. The proposal application is on our website. Champions need to submit the proposal as well as separate executive summary that will be circulated to all club members before the multi-vote on July 30. Vance Zavala told us that the USGA is holding a golf tournament next week in Lorton and that the winner will receive an invitation to play in the Master's next spring.

Happy Talk - July 9 - by Jan Auerbach

John Rosenbaum didn't know what a mortarboard was when his mother asked him yesterday if he had one [today his father wore it].

Bob Rosenbaum is happy to be challenging us today on our knowledge of Rotary.

Dominic Alexander was happy to attend the RI convention in Lisbon and to see Vance Zavala there

Bob Koenig wondered whether anyone could identify the young Little Leaguer in the photo he circulated. Brian Pence later acknowledged that he was the youngster in the picture, taken in 1984, and that Bob Koenig was his coach on that team.

Doug Megill was happy to return from a canoeing trip with the Boy Scouts to Quetico Provincial Park near Ely, Minnesota and to announce that the wounds from bites from mosquitos, gnats, flies, and black flies have all healed. He went with his son, had a wonderful time, and caught lots of fish. Also, his daughter graduated from high school with a 3.9 GPA.

Todd Dempsey is looking forward to playing in Bob Rosenbaum's Rotary Jeopardy as our program this week.

Vance Zavela is happy to return from a four-day vacation to the beach. His family saw the ponies at Chincoteague and his daughter Catherine got a horseback riding lesson.

Brian Pence is happy to have spent a week at Bethany Beach with his family.

Thamir Al'Hashimi had a great time at the McLean Chamber of Commerce golf tournament yesterday, along with Vance Zavela and Stan Richards.

Lois Wilson is happy to have spent a very successful two weeks in Swaziland providing dental treatment to children.
