Carol Stone, sponsored by Dale Lazar, was our speaker.

Carol was born in Southern California, grew up on a ranch land that was being converted to subdivisions, attended middle school close enough to the ocean to walk down to the water to wade in tidal pools. Always a musician, Carol's first musical instrument was baritone ukelele which she taught herself to play so she could play with her brother, who played guitar. She took up competitive violin and competitive swimming in middle school.

Carol said the root of her soul is volunteerism. It started as a youngster wanting to address the smog problem in Southern California by putting filters on Goodyear blimps and have them fly around to filter the smog from the sky.

After attending boarding school in Marin County Carol went to Dartmouth one year, then transferred to Stanford. Stanford was a life changing experiences for her. She got a student job in human biology and related sciences, taught by specialists from all around the world; she taught discussion sessions and helped host speakers on campus. To pay other half of her tuition got a job with the U.S. Geological Survey, monitoring pollution in the San Francisco Bay Area. She graduated from Stanford as a specialist in water quality.

Carol met husband Nick at Berkeley. He earned his PhD degree at Berkeley. His first job was at Texas A&M and they moved to Virginia Tech in Blacksburg three years later, where Nick taught at Virginia Tech. There Nick pioneered use of computers in agriculture.

50/50 Raffle:

50/50 pot of $16 was won by Bob Hahne, but he missed the $165 large pot.

Carol and Nick have been married 32 years and have three kids. For a time Carol was a work at home mom with a part time job teaching music. They moved to N VA three days after 9/11. They sail in the Chesapeake Bay most weekends, and Carol is on the Speakers' Bureau for Chesapeake Bay Foundation.

Carol has taught math - department head - at private school in Alexandria, and still teaches music for the joy of interacting with children, hoping to instill in them a lifelong love of music.

Announcements - October 28, 2014

Dale Lazar announced the Club's officer slate for next year, the 1st of 4 required announcements:

Lynn Heinrichs, President

Michael Ariette, President-Elect

Jan Aurbach, Treasurer

Bob Jansen, Secretary

President Paul Sawtell announced that the Falls Church club is holding a vocational networking meeting Oct 30. President Paul also mentioned that next Saturday Stop Hunger Now will pack more meals at Redeemer Lutheran Church

Bob Hahne offered thanks for club donations toward Stop Hunger Now, bringing the total amount raised to $75K; Bob also needs volunteers to oversee the meal preparation effort Saturday

Jan Aurbach announced that all volunteer slots have been filled for Monte Carlo Night. Jan also reminded us that Rotary dues notices are out and owing.

Carol Stone appealed for Gift Cards buyers on this last day of the current campaign.

Vance Zavela suggested that Monte Carlo a little low on Sponsors.

Dana Sippel is still welcoming last minute silent auction donations for Monte Carlo Night

Happy Talk - October 28, 2014

Michael DeRose was happy that 6 folks are joining him to donate blood. He also claimed he knew the Skins were going to win.

Michael Arietti was late happy to announce that the star of Jefferson Senior Men's League was our own Bob Rosenbaum.

Lynn Heinrichs raised a bunch of money at her origami party

Kathy Martin was very happy that construction will be completed at Vincent Hall Pres in about 2 weeks.

Bob Rosenbaum allowed that and he goes back to Jonny Unitas times, and believes the Skins QB Colt McCoy seems to have the team behind him.

Ed Holman shared his trivia of the day, that Tom Matte, former Ohio State QB, was the first player to use wrist band to look up plays during the game.

Dana Sippel has friend who is actually a rocket scientist; he and his associates called off one launch last night, it will be launched at 6:15 Tuesday night.
