"Historic Preservation...Much More Than Saving Old Buildings"

Speaker: Monica Snow, President, Preservation Dayton

For many American cities, the awakening of the historic preservation movement in the 1970s came much too late. Compared to many other cities, Dayton is fortunate in that we have managed to preserve much of our irreplaceable built-environment. Preservation Dayton has been at the forefront of promoting the economic, cultural, environmental, and social justice benefits of historic preservation in our region. We'll explore these benefits and the preservation challenges facing our community.

Chair of the Day: Charlie Campbell

This Happened Last Monday...

President Shaun Yu started the meeting and informed us the passing of Billy Nance, Bill Nance's son. In honor of his son, Bill Nance led the club in prayer, the Four Way Test, the Pledge and news of the day. We were introduced to the day's guests and visitors. We even had a visiting Rotarian, Kelly McDonald from Hawaii—Aloha! It was a nice way to usher in Spring.

Secretary Linda Groover announced members' birthdays and encouraged all to buy a chance to win half the pot in the Queen of Heart raffle. The pot is over $1000. April 4 is Bring a Guest Day and the guest speakers will be Josh Stucky and Brent Johnson, Owners from Square One Salon & Spa and the topic discussed will be Employee Engagement and the Balance of Work and Play. Guests will be treated to lunch by the club and receive a gift. There will be one $100 gift card to Mama DiSalvos given to someone that brings a guest.

Day Tens were then taken from Jacquie Powell ($100 for great basketball at UD); Tom Maher ($100 for his Paul Harris and to honor the christening of his grand-daughter Libby); Elmer Martin ($20 for thankfulness to be at the meeting); Jessica Barry ($10 in honor of We Care Arts); Dave Williamson ($18 for the anniversary of being in his house); Paul Gruner ($50 for We Care Arts Gala); Lorna Dawes ($40 honoring her 39 year friendship with Kathy Morris); Kelly Lehman ($10 for guests Mike and Joe and their article yesterday in the DDN).

Shaun then called on Walt Hibner to present a Foundation check to Crayons to Classrooms Amy Knopp accepted the check and thanked the group for the gift and reminded us of the resources that Crayons to Classrooms provides to local teachers. Frank Scott was then introduced and praised the group for giving nearly $700,000 over the years to the Foundation. He then announced the recipients of Paul Harris Fellowship pins. They were Jean Maychack (her 9th); Tom Maher (his 6th); Bob Hoopes (his 3rd); and Suren Singhvi (his 2nd).

Shaun then introduced Lisa Grigsby, the Chair of the Day. Lisa introduced Jonathan McNeal, the general manager of the Neon Movies. Jonathan is responsible for the fine programming at the Neon and was responsible for the documentary about the Rubi Girls. Jonathan was at the meeting to share the 2022 Academy Award nominations and his predictions. Next year we will provide a red carpet for Jonathan to walk and for us to take pictures on!

Jonathan received a rousing welcome and showed us trailers for three nominated films—"Power of the Dog", "Belfast" and "Flee".

For this movie fan, I appreciated hearing the nominees in all the major categories because I at least like to see all of the movies before the big show. I will not list all of the nominees. Rather, I will report on Jonathan's predictions and we can all see if he hits his 75-80% accuracy rate. Tune in this Sunday at 8 pm.

Best Lead Actress: The race will be between Nicole Kidman ("Being the Ricardos") and Jessica Chastain ("Eyes of Tammy Faye"). One month ago Jonathan would have picked Kidman but the Hollywood buzz tells him that it will be Chastain. She just won the SAG Award which is often an Oscar winner prediction. Jonathan would really like to see Penelope Cruz ("Parallel Mothers") win. This year's snubs were Lady Gaga in "House of Gucci" and Jennifer Hudson in "Respect".

Best Supporting Actress: Jonathan's prediction is Ariana DeBose for "West Side Story". However, he wouldn't mind if Kirsten Dunst took the prize for "Power of the Dog".

Best Lead Actor: Jonathan's prediction is that Will Smith will win for "King Richard" because he has won all of the major awards so far. Jonathan believes that Denzel Washington should win for his portrayal of MacBeth in "The Tragedy of MacBeth".

Best Supporting Actor: His prediction is that Troy Kotsur from "CODA" will win. Jonathan was proud that the Neon was one of a few theatres that ran CODA and that subtitles were shown because much of the audience on the opening night was deaf. He wouldn't be unhappy if Kodi Smit-McPhee won for his portrayal of a young man bullied by a domineering Benedict Cumberbatch in "Power of the Dog".

Best Picture: Ten films received nominations and the odds-on favorite is "Power of the Dog" which is beautifully filmed but rather a dark story. On upset alert are "Belfast" and "CODA".

There are a few points of interest for this year's Oscars. Many of the Best Picture movies are not nominated in the category of Best Director; the first time that two LGBTQ+ actresses are nominated; Stephen Spielberg enjoys the stat of being the only director to have a nominated film in six consecutive decades; it is the first time that 2 couples have been nominated (Dunst/Plemmons and Cruz/Bardem).

Jonathan spoke highly of "Flee" which is about the refugee experience. It is the first film to be nominated in the 3 categories (Best International Feature; Best Animated Feature and Best Documentary). It will most likely win just one of those nominations.

We were informed of the upcoming and exciting events at the Neon and were urged to follow the happenings on the website (neonmovies.com) and were told about the second part of Julia Reichert's 50 Years in Film. It is a retrospective that will most likely be shown in May of this year. Finally, Jonathan entertained questions from the group about how The Neon has had to pivot during the pandemic to grant writing and relying on donations. The Neon has spent more money to earn less revenue in order to ensure the safety of folks returning to the theatre. The Neon has a marketing budget it uses, along with its relationships with distributors, to target story-telling movies with a distinct following versus the big box blockbusters.

The meeting was adjourned. Happy first day of Spring!

National Rebuilding Day takes place annually to bring local communities together in the hopes of assisting low-income earners in need of home repairs. The day is celebrated on the last Saturday of April, and over the weekend, thousands of volunteers join forces to give a house lift to families in need.

Critical repair or refurbishment is done by volunteers at no cost to family members. The resources needed for the job are obtained from donations, sponsorships, and gifts from businesses, schools, and other kinds of organizations. These repairs make homes safer and more liveable for families that cannot afford to pay maintenance costs.
