MARCH 31 MEETING RECAP

U.S. Senator Rand Paul

President Elect Alice Bridges rang the bell at 12:10 p.m. while President Greg is on vacation. Cindy Collier provided the invocation, and John Conrad led the Pledge and the Rotary Four-Way Test. UofK music student Emily Redden, accompanied by pianist Robert E. Lee, wowed us with her incredible soprano solo which resulted in a well-deserved standing ovation. President Elect Alice invited Rotarians to introduce their guests, and welcomed prospective members to stay for the 'What is Rotary' session at the designated table with Sydney Goetz. Charlie Farnsley served as birthday host and introduced the birthday celebrants. Next week's meeting with guest speaker Karen Wunderlin was announced. Members were reminded to attend the Lifeline

Committee's "Aging Well" session for a presentation by geriatric psychiatrist Dr. David Casey. Members were then requested to invite 18-30 year old young professionals to the Louisville Rotaract Club's Meet & Greet at Molly Malone's next week (see above article in this newsletter). Several other announcements were made before introducing our guest speaker, U.S. Senator Rand Paul. Click Here for details.

Leadership Fellows

Last week the Rotary Leadership Fellows met with Bryce Butler, Managing Director at Access Ventures. Bryce led a great discussion about Impact Investing, Social Entrepreneurship, and how capital investments can build communities. It was very inspiring to hear about the great work Access Ventures is doing to build communities and provide capital to companies that will have both high social impact and financial returns.
