MAGGIE GALLOWAY

CEO - Inscope Medical Solutions

July 14 Rotary Meeting

Topic: Starting Up a Startup in Louisville

Galt House West, Archibald Ballroom, 3rd Floor
11:30 Buffet • 12:05 Meeting

Rotary Leadership Fellow Maggie Galloway is leading a team that's building connected medical devices for emergency medicine providers. Their first device, the Inscope Laryngoscope, is a wireless disposable video laryngoscope with integrated and controllable suction that makes emergency intubation safer for patients and easier for providers. Maggie's presentation will cover the rewards and challenges of getting a new company off the ground in Louisville, the process of idea synthesis, action planning, execution, and how to get an innovative product to market.

In February of 2015, Inscope Medical Solutions LLC won the 2015 Brown-Forman Cardinal Challenge for developing the OneScope. In May of 2015, Inscope Medical Solutions took first place from the Global Venture Labs Investment Competition, which featured teams from all over the world, including the U.S., Brazil, Norway, France, Hong Kong, Germany, Canada, Australia and several teams from Thailand. In addition to a $25,000 cash prize and consulting time with the Director of Jon Burmley Texas Venture Labs, Maggie rang the Nasdaq closing bell in New York City on August 17. (Read more here)

MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT ALICE BRIDGES

It's an incredible honor to take on the leadership position for the Rotary Club of Louisville, arguably one of the most prestigious membership organizations in our community. I follow in a long line of amazing men -- and one amazing woman! -- stretching back to 1912 when our club was founded. As we kick off the new Rotary year, I wanted to share some of my aspirations for the next twelve months.

I am adopting the theme "Connect for Good" because it so aptly captures the great value of Rotary on so many levels. First, it connects the community's leading men and women with each other to learn, to exchange ideas, and to network. But it also connects each of us to the core value of service above self, giving us ways to meaningfully express this deeply held belief and to collectively take action to improve our community and world. ## JULY 28 ROTARY MEETING • SPECIAL TIME / LOCATION

Rotary Evening Meeting • Thursday, July 28 (5-7 pm)

Location: Germantown Mill Lofts, 946 Goss Avenue, 40217

In lieu of the regular lunch meeting, we will get a behind-the-scenes tour courtesy of Rotarian Jeff Underhill and the Business Synergy Committee. With over 250,000 square feet, this former textile mill is the catalyst for the revitalization of the Germantown neighborhood and should be fully finished by August.

There will be a very short program at 5:45 followed by tours and food catered by Finn's, the new Southern-themed on-site restaurant. Bring a guest for this walking/talking event.

Location: Germantown Mill Lofts, 946 Goss Avenue, Free Parking.

Cost is same as other Rotary meetings (No charge for Prepaid members; $25 for R-85 & R-120 or $5 for No Food; $30 for guests; $10 for Leadership Fellows; $20 for Rotaractors).

Online registration is required for this Rotary meeting. Register before July 23 at THIS LINK.

NOTE: You may want to make reservations for dinner after our meeting at Finn's Southern Kitchen Restaurant located at the Germantown Mill Lofts. For reservations, call 502.708.2984. Check out their menu at this link: <http://finnsouthernkitchen.com/menu-1/>.

JULY 7 MEETING RECAP

Dr. Joshua Cramer

The Rotary Club of Louisville meeting of July 7, 2016 was called to order by President Alice Bridges. The invocation was provided by Jean West Losavio. The Pledge of Allegiance and the Rotary Four Way Test was led via Skype by Rotarian & Board member Lukas Dwelly. Following, President Alice asked Lukas several questions about his current service in Africa and his family back in Louisville. Lukas will meet his family in Barcelona in a few weeks for a short leave, and expects to be back in the U.S. in February. President Alice welcomed several guests to the meeting and invited prospective members to visit the What is Rotary? table to learn more about membership after the meeting. President Alice kicked off the fiscal year with a presentation regarding her goals for the upcoming year. The key theme for the year is "Connect for Good." Priorities include engagement, new members and service.

FYI: Dr. Cramer is Director of the National Center for Families Learning. For further info on the Louisville expansion of family literacy, you may contact Joshua at: jcramer@familieslearning.org or check out their website at familieslearning.org. If you would like to call Josh, his # is 402-310-1096.
