This Week's Speaker...

This graphic has a dark blue background. In the top right corner, it says "This Week's Speaker" in white text next to a yellow Rotary logo. On the left is a circular portrait of Christine Smart, a woman with glasses and a smile. To the right of the portrait is a yellow rectangular box containing the name "Christine Smart" in white. Below the name, it says "Makerspace Librarian" and "King County Library System" in white text. At the bottom, it says "January 19, 2023" and "Twin Lakes Country Club" in white text, with a vertical dashed line to the left of the date.

Christine has been working for KCLS for just over a year, but has enjoyed a storied career in Libraries, working all over the country in various positions and capacities. Her current role as the Makerspace Librarian has proved to be an exciting new adventure, to share critical resources and a love of learning to South King County. Christine will share some of the interesting and exciting opportunities in the Makerspace, and information about the King County Library System.
