Hiroshima Peace Tree

Saturday, November 9, 2024

Our Hiroshima Ginkgo Tree has been wrapped up in van der Pol's backyard, and will spend another winter there before being transplanted to village property next year. Earlier this year, the plan was to transplant the tree in the park across the public beach, but now that some trees were blown down during last month's storm, our Peace tree will most likely replace one of those trees along the Waterfront.

Here is the background of the Hiroshima Peace Tree.

The City of Hiroshima recognizes over 160 trees that survived inside the two-kilometer radius of the hypocenter of the atomic bomb that was detonated by the United States on August 6, 1945. The regrowth of the trees, after the death and destruction caused by the bomb, symbolized hope for the people who survived and rebuilt the city. The trees became representations of peace and global nuclear disarmament and important landmarks for survivors to process their trauma.

In 2011, with support from the United Nations Institute for Training and Research, Green Legacy Hiroshima (GLH) was founded to disseminate the "double message of caution and hope that the unique survivor trees of Hiroshima represent, recalling on the one hand the dangers of arms of mass destruction and nuclear weapons in particular, and on the other hand the sacred character of mankind and the resilience of nature." Working with volunteers, GLH gathers the seeds from A-bombed trees and distributes them to institutional partners such as schools, botanical gardens, and government campuses. As of November 2022, GLH's 126 partners had planted trees in forty countries.

District Fall Assembly in Creston

Sunday, October 20, 2024

We are so devoted to Rotary that we didn't mind (?) getting up at 5:00 in the morning, driving to Creston, attending nearly 6 hours of District Assembly, and driving all the way back home on the same day!!but, it was great to see all those Rotary friends and learn more about our Rotary Foundation. Four of our members attended the event.

"Every Rotarian, Every Year" is a slogan of the Rotary Foundation. Rotarians are asked to contribute a minimum of USD $10 quarterly to the Foundation, which enables us to do our worthwhile projects in our community and the communities around the world.
