LITTLE LEAGUE FIELD

LAST TUESDAY'S OUTING WAS A PAINTING EXPEDITION AND, BECAUSE OF A RESCHEDULED GAME, THE DUGOUTS DID NOT GET PAINTED.

ON THE WORK ROSTER WERE JON KEHNE, STEVE, BARNEY, TIM, MIKE, JULIE, DALTON, HANK, JAY, JOHN AND YOUR BULLED, WHO DID A FABULOUS JOB COOKING HOTDOGS, I'M HAPPY TO REPORT. (I didn't list Jon last time, so I'm atoning for my misfeacence. Now, who did I miss this time?)

MORE ON THAT!!

CALLING ALL ABLE-BODIED ROTARIANS WHO HAVE SOME FREE TIME THURSDAY MORNING AT 9:30 TO PAINT THE DUGOUTS! LET BIG AL, TIM OR JON KNOW IF YOU CAN BE THERE. (So you can get paid. . . ?)

LITTLE LEAGUE BREAKFAST

PRETTY FULL HOUSE . . . OF ROTARIANS AT LEAST.

If you don't see your signature above, prepare to pay a hefty fine!

ATTENDANCE WAS DOWN SOME FROM LAST YEAR--THE "CLICKER" SAYS WE SERVED 330. SOME $4275 IN ADVANCE TICKET SALES WERE TURNED IN BY THE PLAYERS.

$$$

YOU REALLY, REALLY, REALLY DON'T WANT TO BE MISSING THIS MEETING. THE CARD DRAW KITTY IS UP TO $683 AND WILL DEFINITELY TOP $700 AT THURSDAY'S MEETING. KEEP IN MIND THAT HALF OF THAT IS YOURS! THE OTHER HALF GOES TO POLIO PLUS.

Hmm, Mr. Treasurer Bob: can the winner take a charitable deduction for the half he or she doesn't get to keep? Maybe only if they report the winnings as taxable?

FROM THE OGREN FILES

A naked man runs into a tailor's shop.

The tailor says, "You can't be in here with no clothes on!"

The man says, "Come on mister, cut me some slacks?"

A real estate salesman had just closed his first deal, only to discover that the piece of land he had sold was completely under water.

"That customer's going to come back here pretty mad," he said to his boss. "Should I give him his money back?"

"Money back?" roared the boss. "What kind of salesman are you? Get out there and sell him a houseboat!"

A Greek man walks into a Greek tailor shop holding a pair of old tattered jeans.

The blind old tailor squints at him, "Euripedes?"

The man nods and holds up the pants, "Eumenedes?"

(Okay, I wasn't quite sure how to take it either. I get the linguistic twist, but who or what are those things? Wikipedia answers everything: Euripides was a tragedian of classical Athens. The Eumenides is a play written by Aeschylus. Now, aren't you glad you know...?)

Matt: "It's times like this that I wish I'd listened to what my Dad always said."

Jake: "What did he say?"

"I don't know, I wasn't listening."

Two nudists were discussing politics.

One says, "Have you read Marx?"

The other nods, "It's these blasted wicker chairs."

As I walked into work, my boss greeted me with, "Today is going to be a great day! Can't you feel it?"

I did.

I went home.

What did the dyslexic worm say to the voracious largemouth bass???

"Oh carp!"

Traffic cop: "Your license, please."

Motorist: "Pardon me, I'm afraid I forgot."

Traffic cop: "You forgot and left it at home?"

Motorist: "No, forgot to get one."

Justice is a dish best served cold...

If it were served warm, it would be justwater.

A customer in a department store is offered a discounted suit by a salesperson. "But the arms and legs don't match," he says. "One arm and one leg is shorter than the other."

"That's why it's such a bargain," the salesperson replies. "But don't worry, if you just raise your left shoulder, bend your left knee and walk like this, no one will notice."

"Well.....okay."

The man then buys the suit; after putting it on in the changing room, he raises his left shoulder, bends his left knee, then proceeds to limp out of the store. As he walks down the street, two ladies notice him.

"Good heavens," says the first lady. "That poor man looks like he's in a lot of pain!"

"Yes," the second lady says. "But his suit certainly fits well."
