Samuel Buttrey

*Jeopardy! Tournament of Champions Finalist.
Who is Sam Buttrey?*

Samuel Buttrey, Ph.D., received a bachelor's degree in statistics from Princeton University in 1983. After eight years as a Wall Street computer systems analyst, he returned to graduate school and received M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in statistics from the University of California, the latter in 1996. In that year he joined the faculty of the Department of Operations Research at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California.

He was promoted to Associate Professor with tenure in 2002 and was awarded the Rear Admiral John J. Schieffelin Teaching award in 2004. He has taught courses on machine learning, probability, statistics, data analysis and other subjects and published one book and numerous papers on applied problems ranging from numismatics and oceanography to human vision. Over the years he has worked on military projects in a number of fields ranging from regime identification from helicopter sensor data to manpower, surveys, and residential energy usage. He has also consulted extensively in the field of consumer credit analysis. Recent interests include survival analysis of personnel data with time-varying covariates. In December 2021, Buttrey won the inaugural Jeopardy! Professors Tournament and returned to the Alex Trebek stage to finish as the second runner-up in the 2022 Tournament of Champions.
