Week Two – Gratitude

GRATITUDE IS THE KEY TO PEACE OF MIND

Gratitude is the appreciation of things that are given to you—things you couldn't have created on your own. It automatically puts you in touch with something greater than yourself, a beneficent force that's interested in your welfare. It's important because our minds tend to default to negativity; we need gratitude to prevent negativity from smothering our lives like a black cloud. With gratitude, you can create an inner sense of serenity, a sense of harmony, even when things aren't going well on the outside. Practicing it regularly allows you to master your own mind, which is the only thing you can really control.

Gratitude makes sense of your past, brings peace for today and creates a vision for tomorrow. – Melody Beattie

Roy Berelowitz is proud of his wife Michelle, who received an award for her support of the Veterans attending the school.

Bill Baker-received a favorable verdict in a big case.

Ola Al Asadi- just returned from a Disney Cruise to Catalina and Ensenada and had a wonderful time. Her 8-year-old son apologized for making her late to her Rotary meeting this morning because he knows how important Rotary is.

Jose Vargas welcomed grandchild number 4; number five is coming soon.

Wayne Silzel is glad to be back, but feels our singing needs some work. He proposed choir practice.

Chad Zimmerman-Thanked Dan Gray and Marc Hurd for their kind words and Jose Vargas for giving him a tour of Santiago Canyon College.

Chris Epting New Book Topic Lost Landmarks of OC

Chris has visited our club to discuss his books on numerous occasions and each time manages to mesmerize us with his ability to weave together an incredible factoid-filled story. This time about why he loves Orange County because of the amazing things that have happened here, from Babe Ruth's first home run, to the origin of the Eagles after backing Linda Rondstat at Disney's now long gone Tomorrowland Stage, or how Jackson Brown encouraged musician/dishwasher at the Golden Bear, Peter Tork to audition for the Monkees. This after meeting a dejected Steven Stills, who had been turned down because of his crooked teeth. If you missed today's talk, Chris is coming back to do a multimedia version on July 20th at 2 pm at Villa Park City Hall sponsored by the Villa Park Library.
