Week One – Sympathy

Empathy, sympathy, and compassion are three words that many use interchangeably. It's a legitimate mistake, because these words can be confusing.

While these words are near cousins, they are not synonymous with one another.

- Empathy means that you feel what a person is feeling.
- Sympathy means you can understand what the person is feeling.
- Compassion is the willingness to relieve the suffering of another.

When you are sympathetic, you are not experiencing another's feeling. Instead, you are able to understand what the person is feeling.

The positive side of sympathy is that it leads to compassion, and this is a trigger for action. Action is what can relieve someone's suffering.

Speaker: Debbie Thrailkill

My Own a case for kids

There are about 34,000 foster kids in Orange County and Debbie is out to ensure that they have a bag that contains clothes, underwear, games, books, sheets, and hygiene articles. She started this with her family, and it has now expanded to serve 750 children in the first year, with a goal of 1000 this year. She runs this charity out of her Coto de Caza Garage. She is accepting donations and also providing a hands-on opportunity to pack the bags.
