Program

To attend on Zoom click here.

A program poster for a presentation by Dr. Russell C. Schnell. The background is dark with a large orange star on the left. At the top right is a logo consisting of three white mountain peaks inside a red circle. The text "Dr. Russell C. Schnell, Senior Scientist" is in white. Below it, the title "The Air We Breathe: It Is Not What It Used To Be" is in white. In the center is a portrait of Dr. Schnell, an older man with grey hair and glasses, wearing a dark jacket over a blue shirt. At the bottom is a black and white checkered border. Inside the border are three logos: the University of Colorado Boulder logo, the CIRES logo, and the NOAA logo.

Russ was Deputy Director of the NOAA ESRL Global Monitoring Division (GMD) in Boulder, CO. He is now a Senior Scientist with the Cooperative Institute for Research in Environmental Sciences (CIRES) of the University of Colorado.

Have you set up your rewards account yet and listed Longmont Twin Peaks as your organization?

If not, please do! Click here.

The rewards funds will go directly to our Charity Fund.

Thanks.

Opportunity Knocks!

Twin Peaks Rotary is currently seeking a third host family for Nelly!

Could you be the just right next home?

Do you like young people?

Do you enjoy learning about another country and culture?

Do you have a space in your home and your heart for a delightful, French speaking young woman?

Curious about this opportunity? Please let Jeanne Dworak or Donna Mercier know.

Merci beaucoup.

Students of the Month

January

Lyons – Emma Johnson (unable to attend)

Silver Creek – Oliver Welsh (Counselor)

Oliver Welsh is undoubtedly one of Silver Creek's best and brightest students! He has been an exemplary student, citizen, athlete, and leader over his high school career. Our school community has benefited from his consistent motivation, dedication to academic excellence, enthusiastic involvement on multiple fronts, and overall positive attitude. Oliver's determination, congenial personality, strong work ethic, positive values, and considerate nature are obvious attributes that set him apart!

Upon graduation, Oliver will have completed ten AP courses and earned our Leadership Capstone designation which is quite a lofty accomplishment! Beyond the classroom, Oliver has taken the initiative to become an extraordinary artist, entrepreneur, and altruist. He currently runs his own business, a clothing brand, where he designs, produces, promotes, and sells a variety of shirts featuring unique logos and artwork. Oliver purchases blank shirts from China, produces the artwork, digitizes his designs, and engineers the screen-printing process. He's managed to grow his business with solid sales and profit margins. He's now using his successful business venture to give back. Oliver is orchestrating a fundraiser for the Juvenile Arthritis Foundation during which a portion of the proceeds from his business will be donated. Oliver has also dedicated many hours of service to Colorado Hope which is a non-profit organization missioned with providing relief goods to the homeless. We are proud to nominate him for this Rotary distinction!

Longmont – Erik Swanson (Counselor)

Longmont High would like to recognize Erik Swanson for the Student of the Month. Erik ranks in the top 1% of his class. His goal is to attend MIT to study Mathematics. He also dreams to in the top 1% of his class. His goal is to attend MIT to study mathematics. He one day wants to become a teacher. Outside of school, Erik likes long walks, plays ultimate frisbee on his school team, and enjoys programming for fun. Erik is also an Assistant Coach at Central Robotics Club where he coaches kids ages 9-12 on all things robotics.

Skyline â€“ Connor Zakavec (Teacher)

Connor, a lifelong resident of northern Colorado, currently attends Skyline High School and participates in the PTECH program. He has demonstrated exemplary academic performance, has maintained a GPA exceeding 4.0 at the high school level, and has been recognized for his high GPA at the college level. Connor is poised to graduate this May, earning his high school diploma and an AAS in Computer Information Systems from Front Range Community College. Earning both these degrees is an exceptional achievement. In addition to his academic pursuits, Connor is actively engaged in a diverse range of extracurricular activities. He invests his time in soccer, programming, coding competitions, and game design.

In pursuit of higher education, Connor applied to institutions offering programming degrees. He secured admission to one of his top three choices, Wentworth Institute of Technology.

Skyline High School is extremely proud to call Connor Zakavecâ€¦a Skyline Falcon!
