What's Happening

The Rotary Club of Fayetteville

The Hogs can't lose if they don't play, I've always said that. We had a bye week, or a reprieve. Call it what you want, it was relaxing to not have to worry about them this past weekend. I do sense a road victory this weekend though. Guess what else I sense? If you said a very successful FayRo Charity Softball Classic that every Rotarian in our club participated in as a volunteer, you would be correct. This is the weekend. If you haven't signed up to work a shift, or more, you can still get involved by signing up this Thursday. We NEED everyone to do their part.

If you missed last week's program, you missed a good one. Deacue Fields gave a fast and furious speech on the Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences. Deacue grew up in Louisiana and has the misfortune of working with Chuck and Harrison. While he only touched briefly on these obvious obstacles, his talk showed us his enthusiasm for his work and knowledge in his field came.

This Thursday we will hear from Renee Terrell Threlfall, Research Scientist, Enology & Viticulture, Food Science Department. Dr. Threlfall's research is focused on specialty crops with expertise in enology and viticulture (winemaking and grape growing), as well as the processing of small fruits (grapes, blackberries, strawberries, peaches, etc.).

Rotarian Alex Martin would like to transfer to our Rotary Club from the Rotary Rogers Noon Club.

Classification: Banking

Business: Commercial Credit Analyst, Great Southern Bank
