This Week's Program -- January 23, 2024

Judd Hill Foundation and Farmers' Market

The Judd Hill Foundation was created in 1991 after the death of Mrs. Esther Hill Chapin to establish a legacy for her family. Named for her father, the Judd Hill Foundation's mission is to create a perpetual benefit to the family's native Poinsett County and the region, particularly through supporting educational and agricultural pursuits. Former ASU System Board of Trustees member Mike Gibson has served as the trustee of the Judd Hill Foundation since its inception.

Dr. Mickey Latour will be our speaker. He will talk about the combined support for planning and construction which provides more than $2.4 million for the facility expansion, which doubles the space at the market. Dr. Latour is the Dean of the A-State College of Agriculture in March 2020.

We will have our meeting at the Judd Hill Farmer's Market, off Aggie Road across Red Wolf Blvd from the A-State campus. Come to the meeting and bring a friend.

And don't forget to bring plenty of peanut butter to donate to the A-State Food Bank. It's our service project for January!

Don't Forget the Peanut Butter

Bring peanut butter to the meeting!

Our January service project is to bring peanut butter. Bring as much as you can. It will be donated to the A-State Food Bank at our January 23 meeting.

Our January 23 meeting will be held at the Judd Hill farmers market.
