About the Program:

On Tuesday, Roby Brock of Talk Business and Politics will lead a discussion with Mary Streett of BP America on BP's efforts to diversify its energy portfolio to renewables, how the company is positioning itself for future growth, and how world events can influence what you pay at the gas pump. Did You Miss Our 2022 Election Panel?

Moderator Roby Brock, using a PBS "McLaughlin Group" approach to the discussion, quizzed panelists Charles Blake, Robert Coon and Rex Nelson on the top issues at hand for Election Day 2022. Brock posed several scenarios and, based on polling numbers, gave a pass/fail score to the panelists' responses. It was another interesting and thought-provoking Election Day discussion. How'd they do with their predictions? Watch the meeting here to find out!

Literacy Lab "GO" for Launch: January 2023

Mitch Bettis brought club members up to speed on our in-school Literacy Lab pilot project with the Little Rock School District. Taking feedback from our summer pilot project and in coordination with the new LRSD administration, we will launch in January with two schools: Booker T. Washington Elementary and Stephens Elementary. Volunteers will be needed twice a week over eight weeks to assist students with workbook assignments and reading support. Following Tuesday's meeting, several members gathered to learn more about the project. More details will be shared in the days ahead. So please be considering how you can serve or help open doors for others to join us in January.
