Speaker: Adam and Joanna Parson came to show off their new veterinary clinic on 1550 West Lane Avenue. The just moved into the new building which gives them lots of space and ability to serve their animals more. They have 30 employees with other doctors, technicians and pharmacists and serve all kinds of animals. They say to stop by and visit. They have students who stop in to learn about veterinarians. The work with Columbus States Veterinary tech program. They have a second floor that they plan to use as a use as a place for rescue groups to raise money with events. They just helped Rescue Ohio raise $2000. Today was Adams 45th birthday. He became a vet as he saw a dog get hit and a vet come to the rescue at 12. At 14 he started working at the vet's clinic and was hooked. He graduated from Ohio State Vet School in 2002. Joanna grew up in Brooklyn and was in pre med and volunteered at the Coney Island clinic and one day a pit bull followed her and she rescued it. She liked the idea that vets do it all and thought that animals are a lot more fun than people. She met Adam at OSU Vet School and graduated in 2003. They have worked on pot belly pigs, hamsters and birds and so many cats and dogs. Everyone is different.
