Volunteers from previous clean up days at Garvin Brown Preserve. We love our volunteers!

River Fields is hosting two opportunities in April for volunteers to help keep our local environment clean as part of this year's Mayor's Give A Day month of service. We'd love to invite you and your friends or family to get outdoors and help us keep our preserved land looking it's best for spring.

On Thursday, April 15th from 3pm to 5pm we are inviting volunteers to help with trash pick-up and invasive species removal at some of our open space preserves on River Road.

On Saturday, April 17th we are inviting volunteers to help us pick up trash and debris at the Garvin Brown Preserve anytime from 9 am to 12 pm. Volunteers are welcome to bring a lunch and enjoy the property after the work is done as well.

To reserve your spot for these events, please e-mail vanessacastle@riverfields.org.

Pertinent information, including directions on parking, will be provided when you make your reservation. Social distancing protocols will be followed and when necessary, masks are appreciated.*

Speech Contest

By Alan P Rietze on Monday, April 5, 2021
Prospect Goshen Rotary Congratulates Speech Winners

The Rotary Club of Prospect/Goshen held their annual Speech Contest in early March and we are pleased to announce three winners, all students from North Oldham High School. This year's contest theme was Rotary Opens Opportunities which asks Rotarians to create opportunities that strengthen their leadership, help put service ideas in action and improve the lives of those in need. Our club reaches out to several schools in our general area not being pursued by other Rotary clubs nearby.

The the winner of our contest was Martie Ehly with runners up, Veena Pendyala and Katherine Ehly. Martie participated in the sectional contest which was held March 31st at the Louisville Suburban Rotary Club and was the runner up. Thank you to all of the contestants and their efforts for this year's speech contest.

Why Rotary?

By Janette Boehman on Thursday, March 4, 2021

We've endured a lot this past year and some clubs are showing the effects.

To move forward, it is important to remind our clubs and those in our communities, that gathering together socially isn't the whole reason for being a Rotarian. Making an impact where we live and work and across the globe is where our strengths lie. Remind them about the lives that Rotary has saved and the lives Rotary has made a difference in. Remind them how the goal of eradicating polio is not just for the sake of meeting an end but for making lives better across the world for so many!

Tell your stories to your communities. Not just posting a photo every so often, but telling your mission: why it's so great to be part of this fantastic organization!

We will come out of this pandemic with some great tools to expand our abilities to reach more people. We can use these tools to have more diverse speaker options. Reach out to other clubs for ideas and help to get your clubs back on track, if needed. Remember your WHY! Why you love Rotary.... then move forward!
