Enexor BioEnergy's mission is to create renewable onsite bioenergy from organic waste to power facilities worldwide. Located in Franklin, Enexor BioEnergy's patented system uses free (or negative cost), locally-sourced organics or plastic waste to generate clean onsite energy. Our low LCOE, coupled with our EaaS model, delivers immediate savings on energy and waste disposal costs with minimal capital outlay.

As Senior Vice President and a member of the leadership team at Enexor BioEnergy (www.Enexor.com), Robert Grajewski sets the strategy for and drives new market expansion, capital formation, and business development efforts at this innovative renewable energy startup. Prior to Enexor, Grajewski launched and led the Innovation Center at Vanderbilt University – which he named “the WOND’RY” – growing it into what was later recognized as The Top Emerging University Entrepreneurship Center Globally by the Global Consortium of Entrepreneurship Centers (GCEC). Grajewski is also a serial start-up entrepreneur having served in founder/C-Level roles at Edison Nation Medical (Top 40 Healthcare Startup, Acquired by a Major Healthcare System), Prestige Staffing Solutions (Acquired by an Industry Leader), and Pro-Techs Antimicrobial (Acquired by a Private Equity Firm). Grajewski also spent 8+ years as a venture capital investor for leading firms including J.H. Whitney Capital Partners, Westwind Investors, and Kamylon Capital. Notably at J.H. Whitney, Grajewski assisted in the successful acquisition and turnaround of Wellman Plastics Recycling that was later acquired by an international conglomerate.
