Last Tuesday we heard from representatives of Rock Creek Informatics (RCI), a group that focuses on the topic of Fractional Management, a consulting role designed for mid to long term engagement with businesses and manufacturers. Owner Dr. Guy Deloach is also a professor at Lee University. Tom Wilkerson, formerly with Lonza, gave an in-depth review of the concept which includes dealing with employee turnover, hiring remorse, and ultimately finding the right people for your organization. Wilkerson gave a testimonial from his experience with a food manufacturing plant where he told of the success of RCI in correcting turnover, providing training, problem-solving, and conducting a root cause analysis. Another guest was Josh Jolley, the CFO at Viarog. He told how RCI trained a veteran employee, provided strategic oversight, filled a vacancy in procurement and provided mentorship services.
