Bank Street Players

By Nathan Tomberlin on Sunday, October 30, 2022

Join us this coming Monday for an update from the Bank Street Players.

Bank Street Players and Dream Weavers are both non-profit community theater organizations dedicated to providing opportunities for children, teens, and adults to create, perform, and enjoy live theater.

Bank Street Players was originally formed in the mid 1970's, and became a fixture in the dramatic arts of Decatur and North Alabama, producing dozens of excellent productions over the ensuing decades. Economic issues forced the group to disband in the early years at the turn of the century. However, the group re-formed in 2012 and has enjoyed a decade of producing quality community theater since!

Dream Weavers was originally established in 1983 by a group of volunteers dedicated to providing theatrical opportunities for children and youth in Decatur. After folding in 2010, the revival of this beloved organization in
