David Weigel - James Webb Telescope

November 13, 2022

By Nathan Tomberlin

David Weigel has been the Planetarium Director at the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville since 2019. David received his Bachelor of Science in Physics from Furman University and his Master of Science in Engineering Physics from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. Mr. Weigel plans to present to us on the James Webb Space Telescope, a space telescope which conducts infrared astronomy. The telescope was launched on Christmas Day 2021 on an Ariane 5 rocket and arrived at its destination point in January 2022. The first images from the JWST were released to the public on July 11, 2022 and NASA continues to publish new images from the telescope weekly.
