Tuesday's Speaker

By Leslie Boling on Sunday, July 28, 2019

Our speaker this week was Graham Ford. Dr. Ford moved to Moultrie, GA in 2017 to work for International Forest Company (IFCO), where he is Tree Improvement and Research Manager. In his role with IFCO, Graham is responsible for developing and implementing goals and strategies towards IFCO's forest tree breeding, testing, and selections programs. Originally from North Carolina, Graham went to North Carolina State University where he earned his Bachelor's in Forest Management. Also at NC State, Graham completed his Master's and PhD in forestry, focusing on tree improvement and quantitative genetics. Before settling in with IFCO, Graham has worked in tree improvement research with each of NC State University Tree Improvement Program, Plum Creek Timber Company, and Weyerhaeuser Company.

Dr. Ford spot to the importance of getting advise from a Forestry Consultant before planting pine trees on your land. Some families of seedlings produce a much higher return ad are worth the additional cost and the effort to research. With the devastation from the recent Hurricane, many growers are having to replant and that will most likely result in a shortage of seedlings in the coming years. If you are interested in planting pine trees on lyour land you should order the seedlings as soon as possible.
