Kayla Johnson

Director of Stone Mountain Downtown Development Authority

Kayla Johnson, the former Community Development Planner for the Heart of Georgia Altamaha Regional Commission in Eastman, Georgia, has been named the new director for the Stone Mountain Downtown Development Authority (SMDDA), a press release said.

Johnson's selection comes following a thorough search which included interview participation by community members and the City of Stone Mountain officials.

With more than three years of development planning experience, Johnson has worked at assisting local government in the development of quality projects, preparing funding applications, and implementing surveys. Johnson also has significant experience organizing project administration, including implementing policies, RFPs, RFQs, and overseeing project construction.

Johnson is a Middle Georgia State University graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration.

"The City of Stone Mountain's Downtown Development Authority is very excited to welcome Kayla Johnson to Stone Mountain Village," said Jelani Linder, The SMDDA Chair. "We feel her energy and experience aligns with the direction the Village is heading, and we can't wait for the community and stakeholders to meet our director."

The SMDDA was formed on September 18, 2006, after the Mayor and City Council adopted a resolution to create the Downtown Development Authority of the City of Stone Mountain (Downtown Development Authority Law). The mission of this authority is to promote the development/redevelopment and economic viability of the downtown area. The activities of the DDA include marketing and implementing programs that promote,

Club presence

Our community needs to know about the Rotary Club of Stone Mountain. They need to know about club meetings info. They need to when and where so that they can join. This is easily promoted by displaying our wheel in the heart of the city. Your continued effort to make this possible is very important, and our club counts on you.
