August 24, 2024 - Andrew Predmore, Ph.D., Furman University

Dr. Predmore leads Furman's Shi Institute for Sustainable Communities, which catalyzes sustainability on campus and across S.C. through applied research, and through hands-on sustainability leadership training for people of all ages and experience levels. A native of Spartanburg, SC, Dr. Predmore returned to the Upstate 3 years ago, having spent most of his career in the Midwest where he was a professor at the University of Illinois Springfield, and then Director of Sustainability for Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. In addition to his work in higher ed, Dr. Predmore also brings experience in the private sector, having worked for Milliken and Company on their sustainability efforts. Dr. Predmore brings a holistic view of our sustainability challenges to Furman and believes strongly in Furman's commitment to doing great sustainability work that benefits the people of SC.

When not working on sustainability, Andrew is busy being a husband and father to 3 kids (and a German Shephard). Andrew loves to get outside where it is easy to be reminded of our natural blessing. His favorite weekends combine family and friends with camping, backpacking, and more recently, fly fishing.
